

Understanding Immigrant Integration

What is the purpose of the project?

The purpose of the project is to examine attitudes towards different policy issues, such as immigration and redistribution. bilendi conducts the survey on behalf of researchers from VATT Institute for Economic Research, Stockholm University, National University of Singapore and The Hoover Institution at Stanford University.

When and how is the data collected?

bilendi collects the data via a survey sent out to respondents in their Swedish panel. The survey takes around 20 minutes to complete. The survey contains questions about your demographic background, knowledge about immigrants' integration, and views and attitudes towards different policy issues.

What happens to the information you provide?

bilendi will be able to observe who completed the survey but not their answers. The researchers will observe each participant's response, but not the identity of the survey respondent. The IP addresses of the respondents are not being collected. Hence, it is not possible to connect the survey responses to a specific individual, and the risk of disclosure of personal information is minimal. The researchers will use the information provided for scientific research. Research results are published as statistical tables and figures, from which individual participants cannot be identified. You can find the Privacy Notice here.

Where can I see the results from the study?

If you would like to view your individual data or the results of the study contact the researcher responsible for the study (see information below).

Participation is voluntary

It is completely voluntary to partake and you can cancel your participation at any time. If you choose to not participate or to stop you are not obliged to explain why. Information collected up to the point in time when you discontinue may still be included in the study. If you would like to interrupt your participation you should contact the researcher responsible for the study (see information below).
